Experience:

Daytime I work as a customer service assistant with a large transport company, where I have been employed for over 10 years. Among my many tasks is translating of various documents related to marketing and transport. I interact with customers from all over the world.

Alongside this I do freelance translation, working from home. I prefer taking jobs with a literary content, like marketing and general texts. I also do a lot of software and user manual translations in the IT business. Both website related and for consumer products. I have also done non-profit translation for charity.
